Pronoms personnels sujets / Subject Pronouns

Illustration via Freepik.com

A pronoun replaces a noun in order to avoid repetition. Subject pronouns are subjects of verbs. In French, a subject pronoun is immediately or almost immediately followed by its verb. The use of subject pronouns is mandatory in French; always use a subject pronoun to construct sentences in the absence of a noun subject. Here are the French subject pronouns:

person	singular	plural
1st person	je , I	nous , we
2nd person	tu , you	vous , you/y'all
3rd person	il , he/it she/it non-binary "they" on , one/we (colloquial)	elle , iel , singular ils , they (masc.) elles , they (fem.) iels , plural non-binary "they"

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=68#audio-68-1>

Subject pronouns are labelled by the term 'person', referring to the subject's role in the conversation. 1st person refers to the person(s) speaking (I, we); 2nd person to the person(s) spoken to (you); and 3rd person to the person(s) or thing(s) spoken about (he, she, it, they).

je

Unlike the English pronoun 'I', je is not capitalized unless it begins a sentence.

tu

The pronoun tu is singular and, importantly, informal. Use tu to address people your own age and those you know well.

on

The pronoun on means 'one', or 'they' in a nonspecific sense: 'comme on dit' (as they say). On often replaces 'nous' in spoken French: 'On y va?' (Shall we go?).

vous

The pronoun vous is conjugated with a plural verb so it obviously refers to more than one person. However, it is also the customary form of address when you are talking to only one person you do not know well, such as an elder, a boss, a shopkeeper, etc. Inappropriate use of the tu form is considered a sign of disrespect.

Tammy: Bonjour, Marc. Comment allez-vous??
Marc: Bonjour, Tammy. Je vais très bien et vous ?

Tammy: Hello Marc. How are you doing Marc: Hello Tammy. I'm good and you?

il/elle / iel

Il and elle besides meaning 'he' and 'she' can both express the meaning 'it' depending on the gender of the noun being replaced.

"Iel" is the equivalent of the non-binary "they" in English. There are many variations of this pronoun, but "iel" is the most commonly used and has been accepted by the French dictionary, L'e Robert. Different from English, iel can be singular (iel) or plural (iels).

For example:

Non, elle est terrible! Je déteste la musique country.
Oh, qu'est-ce que tu as fait, Tex? Le juke-box est cassé?
Oui, il est cassé!

The music is good, isn't it?
No, it's terrible. I hate country music.
Oh, what did you do, Tex? The juke-box is broken
Yes, it is broken!

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=68#audio-68-3>

ils/elles / iels

Ils and elles are similar to il and elle since they agree with the gender of the noun they replace. Ils and elles may refer to people or things. Elles is used to mean 'they' if it replaces people who are all women or objects that are all feminine in gender. On the other hand, ils is used to mean 'they' for objects that are masculine in gender or a group of all men or any group where there is at least one male person or masculine object in the group.

Iels is the plural form of the non-binary pronoun iel.

Bette et Tex sont de bons amis.

Bette and Tex are good friends.

Normalement ils s'entendent bien, mais pas aujourd'hui!

Normally, they get along well, but not today!

Tex: Not at all. I'm doing poorly. I want to listen to some French music. And then Bette and I had a fight.

Fiona: Ah bon? Elle est toujours là?

Fiona: Oh really? Is she still here?

Tex: Non. Elle est partie avec Tammy. Elles sont allées au Broken Spoke.

Tex: Non, she left with Tammy. They went to the Broken Spoke.

Fiona: Tiens, nous y allons, toi et moi?

Fiona: Hey, why don't you and I go there?

Tex: Tu ne m'as pas entendu? Je n'aime pas la musique country!!! Beurk! Qu'est-ce qu'on aime la musique country au Texas!

Tex: Didn't you hear me? I don't like country music!!! Argh! People really like country music in Texas!

The verb être is an irregular verb in the present tense. Listen carefully to its forms in the present. Do you hear the liaison or linking in the pronunciation of the –s in the vous form? It is pronounced as a /z/ to link with the vowel ê in êtes.

être ‘to be’

je suis ‘I am’

tu es ‘you are’

il/elle/iel/on est ‘he/she/they/one is/are’

nous sommes ‘we are’

vous êtes ‘you are’

ils/elles/iels sont ‘they are’

 Toi, tu es un écureuil et moi, je suis un escargot, un escargot français.

Edouard: But no, Joe-Bob, you are not an armadillo!
 Tex is an armadillo. Tex and Tammy are armadillos.
 You and I, we are not armadillos.
 You are a squirrel and I am a snail, a French snail.

C'est (plural Ce sont) is a common expression used to describe and introduce people or things. See c'est vs. il/elle est for more information. Etre is also used as an auxiliary in compound tenses (passé composé with être, passé composé of pronominal verbs, plus-que-parfait, etc.)

féminin

Gender / genre: masculin,

In French, a noun is always feminine or masculine. It is introduced by a determiner, which usually indicates the gender of the noun.

people

When a noun refers to a person, the gender is determined by the person's sex (although some exceptions do exist).

In general, the feminine form of the noun is formed by adding an -e to the masculine noun. Note that the addition of the -e changes the pronunciation in some words:

Joe-Bob est étudiant, Tammy est aussi étudiante.
 Tex est ami avec Joe-Bob, Tammy est aussi amie avec Joe-Bob.

Joe-Bob is a student, Tammy is a student.
 Tex is Joe-Bob's friend, Tammy is also Joe-Bob's friend.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=68#audio-68-9>

There are cases when the feminine form of the noun changes more drastically.

Edouard: Je suis serveur.
 Tammy: Je ne suis pas serveuse.
 Trey: Je suis musicien.
 Tammy: Je ne suis pas musicienne.

Edouard: I'm a waiter.
 Tammy: I'm not a waiter.
 Trey: I'm a musician.
 Tammy: I'm not a musician.

Tex: Je suis un séducteur.
Bette: Je suis une séductrice.

Joe-Bob: Pour le travail, je ne suis pas champion.
Fiona: C'est moi qui suis championne.

Tex: Je suis le copain de Tammy.
Tammy: Je suis la copine de Tex.

Tex: I'm a womanizer.
Bette: I'm a seductress.

Joe-Bob: I'm not a champion at working.
Fiona: I'm the one who is a champion.

Tex: I'm Tammy's pal.
Tammy: I'm Tex's pal.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=68#audio-68-10>

In general, when the masculine noun ends in -e, the feminine noun remains unchanged. Only the determiner or the context indicates if it is a feminine or masculine noun.

Tex et Rita sont frère et soeur, mais ils ont des métiers tout à fait différents.

Tex est poète. Rita est secrétaire.

Tex n'est sûrement pas secrétaire et Rita n'est pas poète non plus.

Tex and Rita are brother and sister, but they have completely different jobs.

Tex is a poet. Rita is a secretary.

Tex is certainly not a secretary and Rita is not a poet either.

animals

The gender of animals is often arbitrary. Some animals are always masculine (un escargot, a snail), others are feminine (la fourmi, ant). However, for some animals there are irregular masculine and feminine forms.

le chat / la chatte, cat

le chien / la chienne, dog

le coq / la poule, chicken (rooster / hen)

le boeuf, le taureau / la vache, ox / bull / cow

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=68#audio-68-11>

objects and ideas

The gender of nouns referring to things and abstractions is arbitrary. However, it can often be inferred from the ending of the word. Typically, words ending in -age, -ment, -eau, -phone, -scope, -isme are masculine and those ending in -tion, -sion, -té, -ette, -ance, -ence, -ie, -ure, -ode/-ade/-ude are feminine.

masculine endings

le fromage (cheese)
le monument (monument)
le sentiment (feeling) le couteau (knife)
le téléphone (telephone) le microscope (microscope)
le romantisme (romanticism)

feminine endings

la salade (salad, lettuce)
la fourchette (fork)
la télévision (television)
la culture (culture)
la situation (situation)

la philosophie (philosophy)

Tammy présente Tex pour la première fois à Bette et Fiona.

Tammy: Tex est un ami de Lyon. C'est un tuteur maintenant! Tex, la minette c'est mon amie Bette, et la fourmi c'est ma copine Fiona. Bette et Fiona sont étudiantes.

Bette: Enchantée, Tex! J'adore la culture française.

Tex: Ah, donc tu, . . . tu aimes l'existentialisme?

Bette: Euh, oui, bien sûr, Tex.

Tammy introduces Tex for the first time to Bette and Fiona.

Tammy: Tex is a friend from Lyon. He is a tutor now! Tex, the kitty is my friend Bette and the ant is my pal Fiona. Bette and Fiona are students.

Bette: Nice to meet you, Tex. I adore French culture.

Tex: Ah, so you, . . . you like existentialism?

Bette: Uh, yes, of course, Tex.

When describing a non-binary person, several options exist in French.

1. You can use epicene words that are the same in both masculine and feminine form. Ex: Il est artiste. Elle est artiste. Iel est artiste.
2. You can reformulate a sentence (this will be easier to do as you become more adept in French!). Ex. Instead of saying "il est musicien" or "elle est musicienne," you can say "iel joue de la musique." ("they play music") In other words, you can say what they do, not who they are in order to describe their profession.

3. You can add a middot to the descriptor. For instance, “iel est musicien-ne.” The middot is the dot that separates the masculine ending from the feminine ending.

Non-binary option: les étudiant·e·s

When referring to a student who identifies as non-binary one can say un·e étudiant·e.

When referring to a group of student that includes people who identify as non-binary one can say les étudiant·e·s.

However, there is not set agreement on how to pronounce words with middots. As mentioned on previous pages, depending on the situation, sometimes it may be better to change the structure of a sentence to avoid a gendered descriptor. In this case, one could say "Iel étudie."

Troisième Partie: La salle de classe / Explication de grammaire

In this section:

- Introduction aux noms / Introduction to Nouns
- Les articles définis / Determiners: Definite Articles
- Les articles indéfinis / Determiners: Indefinite Articles
- “Voilà” vs “il y a” / “There is” and “There are”

Introduction aux noms / Introduction to Nouns

Image via freepik.com

A noun is essentially a label for places, things, events, ideas, concepts and so on. Like English, nouns in French may be categorized as common or proper, count or mass, singular or plural. However, unlike English, French nouns are also categorized as either masculine or feminine.

common vs. proper

Common nouns in English and French are the generic term for something. Common nouns are never spelled with a capital letter unless they begin a sentence.

un tatou an armadillo

Proper nouns are specific names and thus begin with capital letters.

Tex et Tammy Tex and Tammy

count vs. mass

Another way of classifying nouns is according to whether they can be counted or not. Count nouns identify individual entities that can be counted, like armadillos.

un tatou, deux tatous one armadillo, two armadillos

In contrast, a mass noun refers to an entity as an uncountable unit. In the following example, the bread that Tex is eating is conceived of as a mass, that is, an undefined quantity.

Tex mange du pain. Tex is eating bread.

The difference between count and mass nouns is usually clearcut. However, something that is typically countable such as an animal (one armadillo, two armadillos, three armadillos) can nevertheless be conceived of in terms of a mass, as in the following tasteless example.

Berk! Il y a du tatou écrasé partout sur les autoroutes du Texas.

Yuck! There's squashed armadillo all over the Texas highways.

singular vs. plural

All nouns in French and English are marked for number, that is, for singular (one) or plural (more than one). French, like English, usually indicates plurality by adding an -s to the end of the base form, the singular noun. Count nouns have both singular and plural forms:

le tatou, les tatous the armadillo, the armadillos

Mass nouns typically have only a singular form. Try saying the plural forms of the following English mass nouns: sewage, mucus, plasma.

It sounds strange doesn't it? This shows that it is difficult to pluralize a mass noun.

masculine vs. feminine

In English, grammatical gender is based on biology and is only relevant for pronouns (he, she, it) and possessive determiners (his, her, its). Gender in French, on the other hand, affects all nouns, pronouns, adjectives and articles. A noun's gender is indicated by the article that precedes it. Masculine nouns are preceded by le and feminine nouns by la. The use of articles in French is more widespread than in English.

le garçon

the boy

la filles

the girl

Unlike English, the grammatical concept of gender in French has little to do with biological sex. Therefore, inanimate objects such as tables and desks are categorized as either masculine or feminine (there is no neuter gender in French grammar).

la table (feminine)

the table

le bureau (masculine)

the desk

Remember that gender in French, for the most part, is not about sex, but is simply an arbitrary category. The terms 'masculine' and 'feminine' really mean nothing more than 'noun class A' and 'noun class B'. Because grammatical gender is fairly arbitrary, it is essential to memorize a noun's gender along with its spelling and pronunciation.

In French, few nouns can stand alone. Most need to be introduced or 'determined' by an article. As in English, an article is characterized as either definite ('the') or indefinite ('a', 'an'). In addition, French articles are also masculine or feminine, singular or plural, according to the gender and number of the noun they determine. Here are the definite articles in French:

Masculine singular: le (l')

Tex le tatou
Joe-Bob l'écureuil

Tex the armadillo
Joe-Bob the squirrel

Feminine singular: la (l')

Bette la chatte
l'Université du Texas

Bette the cat (female)
The University of Texas

Masculine and feminine plural: les

les tatous
les écureuils les chats
les universités

the armadillos
the squirrels
the cats
the universities

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-1>

élision and liaison

In the examples above, note that le and la both become l' when they precede a noun beginning with a vowel or a silent h: l'escargot, l'université. This is called elision.

Unlike le and la, les does not have a contracted, reduced form. When les is followed by a word starting with a vowel, the normally silent final s of les is pronounced, making a /z/ sound. This additional sound linking two words is called liaison. Listen to the following examples:

Compulsory liaison with a vowel or silent h	No liaison with a consonant
les insectes les animaux les hommes	les tatous les fourmis

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-2>

Note that elision and liaison occur with most words starting with h: l'homme, les hommes, l'hiver, les hivers. Exceptions to this rule are words beginning with an aspirate 'h'.

to identify a specific noun

The definite article is used to identify a specific noun or to refer to a noun that has already been specified.

Corey: Tu connais la tour de l'Université du Texas?

Tex: Bien sûr, c'est le symbole de l'Université!

Corey: Et la Sixième rue?

Tex: Eh bien, c'est les Champs-Élysées d'Austin!

Corey: Do you know the UT Tower?

Tex: Of course, it is the symbol of the University!

Corey: What about Sixth street?

Tex: Well, it's the Champs-Elysees of Austin.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-3>

to express general truths or concepts

French uses the definite article to express general truths or concepts. English, in contrast, uses no article at all. Compare the following sentences:

Tex: L'argent ne rend pas l'homme heureux!

Tammy: Tu as raison. L'amour et la santé sont plus importants!

Tex: Bien sûr, pour les insectes et les animaux, l'argent n'existe pas! Mais l'amour est aussi important pour nous que pour les humains. Ah oui ... l'amour l'amour, toujours l'amour!

Tex: Money does not make man happy!

Tammy: You are right. Love and health are more important!

Tex: Of course, for insects and animals, money does not exist! But love is as important for us as it is for humans. Ah, yes, love, love, love, always love!

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-4>

to express likes and dislikes

The French also use the definite article with verbs of preference, such as aimer, préférer, détester. Once again, English omits the article in such general statements. For example:

Tex adore les croissants.

Joe-Bob préfère les doughnuts.

Tammy n'aime pas le café.

Edouard apprécie la bonne cuisine française.

Tex loves croissants.

Joe-Bob prefers doughnuts.

Tammy does not like coffee.

Edouard appreciates good French cuisine.

to indicate habitual recurrence

The definite article is used in French with moments of the day, days of the week, and seasons to indicate habitual recurrence. For example:

Le matin, Tammy va en cours.

L'après-midi, elle va à la bibliothèque.

Le lundi, Tex fait son jogging.

L'été, il se baigne avec Tammy à Barton Springs. L'hiver, il skie à Purgatory.

Every morning, Tammy goes to class.

Every afternoon, she goes to the library.

On Mondays, Tex goes for a jog.

Every summer, he bathes with Tammy at Barton Springs. Every winter, he skis in Purgatory.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-6>

in a series

The article is usually repeated in a series, in contrast to English. For example:

Tammy: Tex, aide-moi à mettre la table!
Apporte les assiettes, les couteaux, les verres, les serviettes et le vin.

Tex, help me set the table! Bring the plates, knives, glasses, napkins, and wine.

no article

Cities usually do not require an article in French. For example:

Tex habite à Austin.
mais il préfère Paris.

Tex lives in Austin,
but he prefers Paris.

Continents, countries, states, regions, and oceans usually require an article (l'Afrique, la France, le Texas, la Bourgogne, l'Atlantique etc.), but there are a few exceptions, usually islands: Haïti, Israël, Madagascar. See prepositions with place names for more information.

Months never require an article: janvier, février, mars, etc.

Cependant Tex adore mars à Austin.

Nevertheless Tex adores March in Austin.

Monday he has a date with Tammy.

forms

In French, few nouns can stand alone. Most need to be introduced or 'determined' by an article. As in English, an article is characterized as either definite ('the') or indefinite ('a', 'an'). In French, articles are also masculine or feminine, and singular or plural, according to the gender and number of the noun they determine. Here are the indefinite articles in French:

masculine singular: un

Tex est un tatou.
Joe-Bob est un écureuil.

Tex is an armadillo.
Joe-Bob is a squirrel.

feminine singular: une

Bette est une chatte.
UT est une université

Bette is a cat. (female) UT is a university.

plural: des

des tatous des écureuils
des chats

(some) universities

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-12>

In the examples above, listen carefully to the difference in pronunciation of un and des before words beginning with a consonant (un tatou, des tatous) and before a words beginning with a vowel sound (un écureuil, des écureuils). These are examples of liaison.

uses

As the English 'a' 'an' or 'some', the indefinite articles un, une, des refer to nouns which are non-specific. Un or une may also indicate quantity, 'a' or 'an' in the sense of 'one.' Contrast the use of the indefinite and definite articles in the first two sentences below. The indefinite plural des is always expressed in French, but its English equivalent 'some' is often omitted.

Joe-Bob et Corey ont une chambre dans une résidence universitaire à Austin.

Joe-Bob and Corey have a (one) room in a residence hall in Austin.

Ils ont la chambre numéro 1735 dans la résidence Jester.

They have the room #1735 in the Jester residence hall.

Joe-Bob et Corey sont des camarades de chambre.

Joe-Bob and Corey are roommates!

'de' after the negative

In a negative sentence, the indefinite articles un, une, des are replaced by de or d':

Tex: Joe-Bob, tu as un chien?

Tex: Joe-Bob, do you have a dog?'

Joe-Bob: Mais non! Je n'ai pas de chien. Je suis un écureuil.

Joe-Bob: No, I don't have a dog. I'm a squirrel.

Tex: Corey, tu as des amis?

Tex: Corey, do you have friends?

Corey: Mais non! Je n'ai pas d'amis. Je suis un cafard.

Corey: No, I don't have any friends. I'm a cockroach.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-14>

However, following the verb être, the indefinite articles un, une, des remain unchanged in the negative:

Edouard: Joe-Bob, c'est un écureuil. Ce n'est pas un tatou!

Edouard: Joe-Bob is a squirrel. He is not an armadillo.

Tex et Tammy, ce sont des tatous. Ce ne sont pas des escargots.

Tex and Tammy are armadillos. They are not snails.

before a plural adjective

Before a plural adjective which precedes a noun, des usually becomes de. If the adjective comes after the noun, des does not change to de.

Edouard: Tex et Tammy sont de charmants amoureux.

Edouard: Tex and Tammy are charming lovers.

Bette: Ah bon? Ce ne sont pas seulement de bons amis?

Bette: Really? They are not just good friends?

Edouard: Tu ne trouves pas que Tex et Tammy sont des tatous parfaits l'un pour l'autre?

Edouard: Don't you think that Tex and Tammy are armadillos who are perfect for each other?

Bette: Absolument pas!

Bette: Absolutely not!

with adjectives of profession, nationality, and religion

Professions, nationalities and religions are considered adjectives in French and need no article after the verbs être and devenir.

Edouard: Tex devient professeur; il est américain; il n'est pas catholique.

Edouard: Tex is becoming a professor. He is American. He is not Catholic.

Listen to the dialogue:

Bette et Tammy parlent entre femmes.

Bette: Je n'ai pas de véritables amis! Tout le monde pense que je suis une méchante chatte.

Tammy: Mais non Bette! Toi et moi nous sommes de vieilles amies!

Bette: Oui, mais toi tu as un petit ami tandis que moi je n'ai pas de petit ami!

Tammy: Tu sais Bette, avoir un petit ami ce n'est pas toujours une partie de plaisir, surtout quand il s'appelle Tex!

Bette and Tammy are talking woman-to-woman.

Bette: I have no real friends! Everybody thinks that I am a wicked cat.

Tammy: That's not true Bette! You and I are old friends!

Bette: Yes, but you have a boyfriend whereas I don't have any boyfriend!

Tammy: You know Bette, having a boyfriend is not always a fun thing, especially when he's called Tex!

“Voilà” vs “il y a” / “There is” and “There are”

Il y a and voilà are two ways of introducing nouns. They are translated into English as ‘there is / there are’ or ‘here is / here are.’

il y a

Il y a + noun usually indicates the existence of a person or a thing in the context of a particular setting. It is commonly translated as 'there is' or 'there are.' For example:

A Austin, il y a une grande université.

In Austin, there is a big university.

Dans cette université, il y a plusieurs animaux qui parlent le français!

At this university, there are several animals who speak French!

Parmi ces animaux, il y a des tatous, un escargot, une chatte, un écureuil, et plusieurs insectes! Attention!

Among these animals, there are armadillos, a snail, a cat, a squirrel, and several insects! Careful!

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=171#audio-171-18>

The negation of 'il y a' is il n'y a pas, 'there is / are not'. You will also find these forms: il n'y a plus, 'there is / are not anymore', il n'y a jamais, 'there is / are never'.

A Austin, il n'y a jamais de neige.

In Austin, there is never any snow.

Donc parmi ces animaux francophones, il n'y a pas de pingouin!

So, among these French-speaking animals, there is no penguin!

The verb avoir in the expression il y a may be conjugated in any tense or mood, for example, in the past (il y avait, 'there was') or in the future (il y aura, 'there will be.')

voilà / voici

Voilà + noun and voici + noun are commonly translated as 'here is/are'. They are used to indicate the sudden appearance of something or someone, to introduce people or ideas. Alternating between voici and voilà is common when referring to more than one item.

Tammy montre le campus à Tex: Voici la bibliothèque et voilà la célèbre tour!

Tammy is showing the campus to Tex: Here is the library, and there is the famous Tower.

Tex: Oui, oui ...

Tex: Yes, yes ...

Tammy présente Tex: Tex, voici Joe-Bob et Corey ... et voilà Edouard qui arrive.

Tammy introduces Tex: Tex, here is Joe-Bob and Corey ... and there comes Edouard.

Joe-Bob: Bonjour, Tex.

Joe-Bob: Hello, Tex.

Corey: Salut, Tex.

Corey: Hi, Tex.

Tex: Oh, la, la, de vrais Texans ...

Tex: Oh, la, la, real Texans ...

Première Partie: L'Identité / Les questions personnelles; Explication de grammaire

In this section:

- Le verbe avoir – to have
- Forming Questions
- Basic Negation
- La nationalité

Le verbe avoir

The verb avoir is irregular in the present tense. Listen carefully to the pronunciation of the -s in the plural pronouns nous, vous, and ils/elles/iels. This -s is pronounced as a /z/ to link with the vowel sound in the plural forms of avoir. This liaison, or linking, is especially important in distinguishing ils ont (they have) from the third person plural of être ils sont (they are).

avoir 'to have'
j'ai	nous avons
tu as	vous avez
il/elle/iel/on a	ils/elles / iels ont
past participle: eu

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=342#audio-342-1>

Avoir is also used as an auxiliary in compound tenses (passé composé with avoir, plus-que-parfait, futur antérieur, etc.) Besides ownership, the verb avoir expresses age in French, unlike the English equivalent, which uses the verb 'to be.'

Tex, tu as des frères et des soeurs?

Tex, do you have brothers and sisters?

Tex: Oui, j'ai une soeur et un frère.

Tex: Yes, I have a sister and a brother.

Quel âge ont-ils?

How old are they?

Tex: Ma soeur Rita a 30 ans et mon frère Trey a 16 ans.

Tex: My sister Rita is 30 and my brother Trey is 16.

Forming Questions

Image via Pexels

1. questions with intonation
2. questions using 'est-ce que...?'
3. questions using 'n'est-ce pas?'

questions with intonation

One of the easiest ways to ask a question that may be answered by yes/no is to raise the pitch of your voice at the end of a statement. In a declarative statement, the pitch normally falls. Listen to the following dialogue and pay close attention to the intonation.

Tex: Trey, tu aimes la philosophie?

Trey: Non. Je n'aime pas la philosophie.

Tex: Tu connais Sartre?

Trey: Non. Qui est-ce?

Tex: Gloups! C'est l'auteur du chef d'oeuvre existentialiste, La Nausée.

Tex: Trey, do you like philosophy?

Trey: No. I do not like philosophy.

Tex: Do you know Sartre?

Trey: No. Who is that?

Tex: Gulp! He's the author of the existentialist masterpiece, Nausea.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=342#audio-342-3>

questions using 'est-ce que ... ?'

Another way to ask a yes/no question is to place est-ce que before a statement. Note that que becomes qu' before a vowel.

Trey: Et toi, Tex, est-ce que tu aimes les films?

Tex: Bien sûr, j'adore les films.

Trey: Est-ce que tu connais Yoda?

Tex: Non. Qui est-ce?

Trey: Duh ...

Trey: And you, Tex, do you like films?

Tex: Of course, I adore films.

Trey: Do you know Yoda?

Tex: No. Who is that?

Trey: Duh ...

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=342#audio-342-4>

questions using 'n'est-ce pas ?'

N'est-ce pas? is added to the end of a yes/no question when the speaker expects an affirmative response.

Trey: Tu connais 'La guerre des étoiles,' n'est-ce pas?
Yoda, c'est le petit sage.

Trey: You know 'Star Wars,' don't you? Yoda is the little wise man.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=342#audio-342-5>

Listen to the end of the dialogue:

Trey: Yoda est mon héros. Tu ne connais pas Yoda?

Tex: Ah, si, si, si*, je connais le petit philosophe. Est-ce que tu es fou? Yoda n'est pas Sartre.

Trey: Oh, mais la philosophie de Yoda est plus intéressante que la philosophie existentialiste de La Nausée! Tu es d'accord, n'est-ce pas?

Tex: Quel crétin! Retourne à tes jeux électroniques!

Trey: Yoda is my hero. You don't know Yoda?

Tex: Ah, yes, yes, yes, I do know the little philosopher. Are you crazy? Yoda is not Sartre.

Trey: Oh, but Yoda's philosophy is more interesting than the existentialist philosophy of La Nausée! You agree, don't you?

Tex: What an idiot! Go back to your video games!

*Si is used to answer 'yes' to a negative question.

Basic Negation

ne...pas

Basic negation is formed by placing ne ... pas around the conjugated verb. Ne becomes n' in front of a verb starting with a vowel or a mute h.

Tex: Tu ne vas pas en cours aujourd'hui, Tammy?

Tammy: Non. Je ne vais pas bien. Je ne peux pas manger et j'ai mal à la tête.

Tex: Tu n'as pas de chance! Ce soir, il y a une fête chez Edouard!

Tammy: Tu n'es pas d'un grand réconfort, tu sais!

Tex: You're not going to class today Tammy?

Tammy: No. I am not well. I cannot eat and I have a headache.

Tex: That's too bad [literally 'you are not lucky']! Tonight there is a party at Edouard's!

Tammy: You are not a lot of comfort, you know!

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=342#audio-342-7>

In compound tenses, like the passé composé, the ne ... pas are also placed around the conjugated verb, which is the auxiliary, avoir or être. In the periphrastic future, ne ... pas goes around the verb aller.

Tex n'a pas été très gentil.

Tex was not very nice.

Tammy ne va pas passer la soirée chez Edouard.

Tammy is not going to spend the evening at Edouard's.

Note that in spoken French, the ne / n' is sometimes dropped. In familiar speech, tu is often pronounced as t' before a vowel.

Tammy: Tex, t'es (tu es) pas très gentil.

Tammy: Tex, you are not very nice.

La nationalité

Each country (pays) and continent (continent) have an adjective to describe people and things from that country/continent. The adjective to describe nationality changes depending on whether the person is masculine (ex : américain) or feminine (ex : américaine).

If the person is non-binary, a middot may be used in writing (ex: américain·e) but, as mentioned previously, there is no agreed upon way of pronouncing a word with a middot. When speaking, consider changing the structure of the sentence: “Il·elle vient d’États-Unis.”

Note: In the French language, nationalities must be capitalized when used as nouns.

However, when they are used as adjectives, they do not need to be capitalized.

Exemple :

Mon copain est canadien – ici, canadien est l’adjectif.

Je connais une Québécoise qui a le même nom de famille que moi – ici, Québécoise est un nom (noun)

Here, you will learn some nationalities that have common masculine/feminine endings in French. Note the (e) (ne) represents people who identify as feminine or feminine objects.

Possessive Determiners

Image via Pexels

forms and uses

The possessive determiners serve to express ownership or possession (hence the name). They are also often called possessive adjectives because they agree in gender and number with the noun they introduce.

Masculine singular	Feminine singular	Plural	Non-binary	Translation
mon	ma	mes	maon	my
ton	ta	tes	taon	your (familiar)
son	sa	ses	saon	his, her, their or its notre	notre	nos		our votre	votre	vos		your (formal or plural)
leur	leur	leurs		their

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=553#audio-553-1>

Possessive articles, like all articles, must agree with the noun they modify. Thus, if the noun is feminine, the possessive article must be feminine, too. In the following example, the feminine noun famille requires a feminine form – sa. Note that sa has three potential translations in English: ‘his,’ ‘her,’ or ‘its.’ So, how do you know which meaning is intended? Context! Since the following example sentence refers to Tex, we know that sa means ‘his.’

Tex présente sa famille: Voici mon frère, Trey, et ma soeur, Rita, avec ses enfants et leur chien Fido. Notre famille est formidable!

Tex introduces his family. Here is my brother, Trey, and my sister, Rita with her children and their dog Fido. Our family is great!

liaison

Do not forget to make the liaison between the plural forms of the possessive determiners and words that begin with a vowel sound. Ma, ta, sa become mon, ton, son in front of feminine nouns beginning with a vowel sound.

Tex continues his introductions:

Tex: Voici Tammy, mon amie, et ses amies Bette et Fiona, c'est-à-dire nos amies.

Tex: Here is Tammy, my friend, and her friends, Bette and Fiona, that is to say, our friends.

Intro to Adjectives

Describing friends and family

An adjective is a word that describes a noun or pronoun. The major differences between adjectives in French and English concern agreement and placement. In French, an adjective is usually placed after the noun it modifies and must agree in gender and number with the noun. In English, an adjective usually comes before the noun it modifies and is invariable, that is, it does not agree.

Tex est un tatou philosophique.

Edouard est un escargot raffiné.

Joe-Bob est un écureuil aimable.

Bette est une chatte capricieuse.

Corey est un cafard ivre.

Fiona est travailleuse. (f)

Mais Joe-Bob n'est pas travailleur. (m)

Tex is a philosophical armadillo.

Edouard is a refined snail.

Joe-Bob is a friendly squirrel.

Bette is a temperamental cat.

Corey is an intoxicated cockroach.

Fiona is hard-working.

But Joe-Bob isn't hard-working.

adjective vs. adverb

It is common in nonstandard English for speakers to use adjectives in place of adverbs.

Joe-Bob says: "Gee, Tex writes real good." (instead of: "Tex writes well.")

Joe-Bob says "Gosh, Edouard, you walk real slow." (instead of: "Edouard, you talk slowly.")

French adjectives are rarely used in place of the adverbial form. Remember that adjectives modify nouns and adverbs modify verbs, adjectives, and other adverbs!

Tex écrit bien.
(adverb modifies verb)

Tex writes well.

La poésie de Tex est bonne.
(adjective modifies noun)

Tex's poetry is good.

Placement of Adjectives

Icon via Flat Icon

1. formation

2. placement

formation

Adjectives agree in both number and gender with the noun or pronoun they modify. For regular adjectives the masculine form is the base form to which endings are added. The feminine adjective is formed by adding an e. The plural adjective is formed by adding s. Listen to the recorded examples to hear the pronunciation of the different adjective forms:

masculine singular	feminine singular	masculine plural	feminine plural
petit	petite	petits	petites

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=553#audio-553-5>

Note how the singular and plural forms of the masculine adjective sound the same, and the singular and plural forms of the feminine adjective also sound the same.

Tex est petit.

Tammy est petite.

Tex et Trey sont petits.

Tammy et Bette sont petites.

Tex is little.

Tammy is little.

Tex and Trey are little.

Tammy and Bette are little.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=553#audio-553-6>

The adjective takes the masculine plural when the nouns it modifies are of different genders: Tammy et Tex sont petits. (Tammy and Tex are little.)

Irregular adjectives do not follow the rules given above.

placement

In French, most adjectives follow the noun, unlike in English, where the the adjective precedes the noun. Here are some examples of adjectives following the noun:

Tex porte toujours un béret rond, même quand il fait du sport. Il aime les romans existentialistes. Dans son enfance, Tex a habité chez des nonnes catholiques.

Tex always wears a round beret, even when he exercises. He likes existentialist novels. As a child, Tex lived with catholic nuns.

Tammy a un nez pointu. C'est une tatou mince et sympathique. Elle apprend la langue française et fait des études littéraires.

Tammy has a pointed nose. She is a slim and nice armadillo. She's learning the French language and is studying literature.

Bette est de caractère méfiant. Elle est d'humeur changeante. C'est une chatte très maline.

Bette has a mistrustful personality. She has changing moods. She's a very cunning cat.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=553#audio-553-7>

Note that there is a small group of adjectives that normally precede the noun. Some adjectives can also be placed before or after the noun but changing the position of the adjectives can modify their meaning.

Listen to this dialogue:

Tammy, Bette et Tex sont à Gregory Gym. Les deux filles parlent, puis se disputent, pendant que Tex fait son sport annuel.

Tammy: Regarde, Bette, comme ses ongles jaunes tapent sur le tapis roulant quand il court! Quel tatou adorable! Et ce museau fin et pointu, ces écailles étincelantes, ce corps souple, ces gestes et ces mouvements pleins de grâce ...

Bette: Berk! Tu aimes vraiment ça!? Un corps humide de sueur et un poil gris comme une boule de papier mâché! Oh mon dieu! Et cette odeur désagréable! Comme un rat noyé! Tu n'es pas sérieuse!

Tammy: Bette, je ne suis pas idiote! Je connais tes intentions! Il est à moi!

Tammy, Bette and Tex are at Gregory Gym. The two girls talk, then argue, while Tex does his yearly workout.

Tammy: Bette, would you look at those yellow nails of his clicking on the tread mill when he runs! What an adorable armadillo! And that snout, so fine and pointy! Those shiny scales, that supple body, his every gesture and movement so full of grace ...

Bette: Yuck! You like that!? That clammy body, gray fur? Like a wad of paper maché! Oh, Lord! And that awful smell! Like a drowned rat! You're not serious!

Tammy: Bette, you don't fool me! I understand your intentions! He's mine!

In this section:

- Introduction aux adverbes
- Expressions avec avoir
- Verbes (ER)

An adverb is a word that qualifies the action of the verb, that is, it specifies how or when the action is performed. In English, many adverbs are indicated by the -ly ending. In French, most adverbs end in -ment.

lentement	slowly
attentivement	carefully
souvent	often

Adverbs answer questions about the action: how? how much? when? and where? While most adverbs in French and English modify verbs, they can also modify other adverbs as well as adjectives.

verb modified by adverb	Ecoute attentivement.	Listen carefully .
adverb modified by adverb	trop lentement	too slowly
adjective modified by adverb	extrêmement silencieux	extremely quiet

Adverb vs. Adjective

It is common in non-standard English for speakers to use adjectives in place of adverbs.

Tex writes good. (instead of 'well')

Aggies talk too slow. (instead of 'slowly')

While this alternation is common in English, it is not common in French where adjectives are rarely used in place of the adverb. Remember that adverbs modify verbs (as well as other adverbs and adjectives) and adjectives.

tives modify nouns.

Tex écrit bien.

Tex writes well.

La poésie de Tex est bonne.

Tex's poetry is good.

The verb avoir is irregular in the present tense. Listen carefully to the pronunciation of the -s in the plural pronouns nous, vous, and ils/elles/iels. This -s is pronounced as a /z/ to link with the vowel sound in the plural forms of avoir. This liaison, or linking, is especially important in distinguishing ils ont (they have) from the third person plural of être ils sont (they are).

avoir 'to have'

j'ai

nous avons

tu as vous avez

il/elle/iel/on a

ils/elles/iels ont

past participle: eu

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=555#audio-555-1>

Avoir is also used as an auxiliary in compound tenses (passé composé with avoir, plus-que-parfait, futur antérieur, etc.) Besides ownership, the verb avoir expresses age in French, unlike the English equivalent, which uses the verb 'to be.'

Tex, tu as des frères et des soeurs?

Tex, do you have brothers and sisters?

Tex: Oui, j'ai une soeur et un frère.

Tex: Yes, I have a sister and a brother.

Quel âge ont-ils?

How old are they?

Tex: Ma soeur Rita a 30 ans et mon frère Trey a 16 ans.

Tex: My sister Rita is 30 and my brother Trey is 16.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=555#audio-555-2>

Verbes (ER)

There are three major groups of regular verbs in French: verbs with infinitives ending in -er, verbs with infinitives ending in -ir, and verbs with infinitives ending in -re. Since -er verbs are the most numerous, they are considered the first conjugation. To conjugate these verbs, drop the -er from the infinitive to form the stem. Next, add the -er endings to the stem. Different tenses have different endings.

The endings given below (-e, -es, -e, -ons, -ez, -ent) are for forming the present tense. The endings (-e, -es, -e, and -ent) are all silent. The only endings that are pronounced are the nous (-ons) and the vous (-ez) endings. The four silent endings form a boot shape in the verb conjugation.

parler 'to speak'

je parle
tu parles
il/elle/iel/on parle

nous parlons
vous parlez
ils/elle/iels parlent

past participle: parlé

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=555#audio-555-3>

Listen carefully to the following sentences. Note that the pronunciation of each of the verbs is the same even though the conjugations are spelled differently.

Tex, il parle français? Mais c'est un tatou.

Tex speaks French? But he's an armadillo.

Tex: Bien sûr je parle français et Tammy, elle aussi, elle parle français.

Tex: Of course, I speak French and Tammy, too, she speaks French.

Eh bien dis donc, même les tatous parlent français au Texas?

Well, I'll be, even the armadillos speak French in Texas?

Here is a list of common -er verbs:

adorer, to adore

habiter, to live

aimer, to like

jouer, to play

aimer mieux, to prefer

montrer, to show

chanter, to sing

présenter, to introduce chercher, to look for regarder, to watch

danser, to dance

rencontrer, to meet (by chance)

demander, to ask

rester, to stay, remain

détester, to hate, to detest

téléphoner, to telephone donner, to give travailler, to work

écouter, to listen to trouver, to find

étudier, to study

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=555#audio-555-5>

Je changes to j' before a verb starting with a vowel or a silent h (ex: j'adore, j'habite). This phenomenon is known as élision. Listen to the following sentences. Can you hear the élision in the first two examples?

Tex: J'adore la musique rap et j'écoute souvent de la musique dans les clubs.

I love rap music and I often listen to music in clubs.

Je chante et je danse aussi.

I sing and I dance, too.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=555#audio-555-6>

Note also that the s in plural pronouns (nous, vous, and ils/elles/iels) is usually silent except when it is followed by a verb that begins with a vowel sound. In such a case the silent s is pronounced as a /z/ and links the pronoun to the verb. This phenomenon is called liaison ('linking') and is very characteristic of French. Listen carefully to the sentences below. Which sentences contain examples of liaison?

Tex et Tammy, ils écoutent de la musique canadienne avec Paw-Paw!

Tex and Tammy, they listen to Cajun music with Paw-Paw!

Tammy: Nous adorons danser.

Tammy: We love to dance.

Tex: Oui, oui, c'est vrai. Nous dansons beaucoup.

Quatrième Partie: L'heure, Explication de grammaire

L'heure

In French, you may ask the time in one of two ways :

1. Quelle heure est-il ? (informal).
2. Est-ce que vous avez l'heure / Est-ce que tu as l'heure ? (formal).

Time can be expressed by using the following expressions:

"Il est" + the hour + minutes – il est huit heures – Il est 8h00. Notice that there is an s on heures.

Il est une heure – il est 1h00. Heures becomes heure (singular) in this case because there is only one hour.

Note that even if it's "8h00", you'll still use "il est" and not "ce sont"

Note: Military time, or the 24 hour clock is used to express official time, such as for movie time, meeting times and train or bus schedules.

In order to express this time, any hour past 12PM (noon) will be added to 12.

-1PM would be “une heure,” unofficially, and “treize heures,” officially (13h).

-3:30PM would be “trois heures et demie (de l’après midi),” unofficially, and “quinze heures trente,” officially (15h30).

-9:40AM would be “dix heures moins vingt,” unofficially, and “neuf heures quarante,” officially (09h40).

When using the 24 hour clock, unofficial terms such as “et demie” or “et quart” will not be used.

Before you leave for Montréal you are going to make your own video about what your life is like at Boise State University to share with the new friends you make. Using your phone or computer make a video to showcase the activities you do in Boise outside of class, both on and off campus and the some buildings where you have your courses. Things to consider include sports that you play and where you play them, and activities related to the arts such as music, film, theater, and visual arts. You may want to include where you eat and/or cook, activities you do at the Student Union Building or in the library. Off campus activities may include where you shop, activities on the Greenbelt or at the river, and skiing, snowboarding, or skateboarding.

Part One:

To begin this assignment, you will create an outline of the activities you plan to showcase in your video. You should include at least 4 locations, including the location where you have at least one class at Boise State. For each location, you should write a full sentence describing what you do at this location and how often you participate in that activity.

- For example if you are writing about your kitchen you may say, “Ici, je fais à manger tous les jours.”
- When showing a building on campus where you have a class, be sure to name the specific course that you take in the building, the days of week you have the class and the time it starts.

Rubric, Part One:

Criteria	Exceeds Expectations	Meets	Expectations	Does Not Meet Expectations
		Strong	Minimal
Language Function	You can create with language by combining and recombining known elements successfully into more than memorized sentences. Your accuracy may decrease when attempting to communicate beyond the word level.	You have little accuracy even with memorized words.

Part Two:

You will now revise your outline based on the feedback from your instructor. Next, you will record your video to share with new friends and classmates in Montreal. Remember that YOU MUST SPEAK ONLY IN FRENCH DURING THE ENTIRE VIDEO.

1. For your video you must include at least 4 locations. At least one location must be where you have a class at Boise State.
2. For each location tell the viewer which activity you do at this location and how often you participate in that activity.

- When showing a building on campus where you have a class, name the specific course that you take in the building, the days of week you have the class and the time it starts.

3. Remember that the video should be polished and display enthusiasm. You may use one of the following tools to record your video:

- Adobe Express Video (You can include accompanying visuals with this tool)

ils sont (they are), and ils font (they do/make).

Tex est né au Texas, bien sûr. Mais par accident il a grandi en Europe. Comment expliquer cette histoire incroyable?

Eh bien, quand il était tout petit, on l'a mis dans un avion avec les bagages à l'aéroport Bush International à Houston.

Son avion est arrivé à Paris (en France) où il a rencontré des nonnes françaises qui venaient de faire un voyage aux Etats-Unis. Elles arrivaient de Houston, elles aussi. Quelle coïncidence!

Elles ont eu pitié de ce pauvre tatou égaré et elles l'ont emmené au couvent à Lyon. Tex a vécu heureux chez les nonnes pendant plusieurs années.

Malheureusement, un jour il a été expulsé de France, et il est retourné dans son pays natal, c'est-à-dire au Texas!

Tex was born in Texas, of course, but by accident he grew up in Europe. How do we explain this unbelievable story?

Well, when he was very little, he was put with the luggage in a plane at Bush International Airport in Houston.

His plane arrived in Paris (in France) where he met some French nuns who had just taken a trip to the United States. They, too, were arriving from Houston. What a coincidence!

They took pity on this poor lost armadillo and they took him to their convent in Lyon. Tex lived happily with the nuns for several years.

Unfortunately, one day he was deported from France and he returned to his native country, that is, to Texas!

La

Grammaire

In this section:

- Le verbe aller
- Le futur proche
- Les Verbes

Le verbe aller

Icon via Flat Icon

The verb aller is irregular in the present tense. Listen carefully to the pronunciation of the -s in the plural forms nous and vous forms. This -s is pronounced as a /z/ to link with the vowel sound in the plural forms allons and allez.

aller 'to go'

je vais

tu vas

il/elle/iel/on va

past participle : allé

nous allons

vous allez

ils/elles/iels vont

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=559#audio-559-1>

Aller literally means 'to go', but is used figuratively in salutations to say how one is doing.

Corey: Salut, Joe-Bob , où vas -tu?

Joe-Bob: Je vais au café.

Corey: Mais, tu as cours maintenant.

Joe-Bob: Oui, mais le prof est horrible, vraiment horrible!

Corey: Attention! Il arrive!

Joe-Bob: Ah, bonjour monsieur le professeur.
Comment allez-vous aujourd'hui?

Corey: Hey, Joe-Bob, where are you going?

Joe-Bob: I'm going to a coffee shop.

Corey: But, you have class right now.

Joe-Bob: Yes but, the prof is horrible, really horrible.

Corey: Watch out! He's coming!

Joe-Bob: Oh, hello, professor. How are you today?

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=559#audio-559-2>

Aller is also used to talk about the near future, what one is 'going to do.'

Le futur proche

1. formation
2. uses
3. aller in the imperfect + infinitive

formation

There are two future tenses in French, the simple future and the near future (le futur proche). The futur proche is usually translated into English as going + infinitive (e.g., going to eat, going to drink, going to talk). The futur proche is characteristic of spoken French but may be used in informal writing. It is formed with the verb aller (to go) conjugated in the present tense followed by an infinitive.

nager 'to swim'

je vais nager, I am going to swim

tu vas nager, you are going to swim

il, elle / on va nager, he, she (it) / one is going to swim

nous allons nager, we are going to swim

vous allez nager, you are going to swim

ils / elles vont nager, they are going to swim

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=559#audio-559-3>

To negate the futur proche, place ne ... pas around the conjugated form of aller: Je ne vais pas nager. (I am not going to swim).

Corey: Je vais aller à Barton Springs. J'adore l'eau.
Je vais nager. Tu viens avec moi, Bette?

Bette: Tu es fou! Il fait trop froid!
Je ne vais pas nager!

Corey: I am going to go to Barton Springs. I love water. I am going to swim. Are you coming with me, Bette?

Bette: Are you crazy? It is too cold! I am not going to swim!

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=559#audio-559-4>

uses

The futur proche is used to refer to most future events in informal conversation. For details on usage see future: usage.

Corey: Tex! Tammy! Nous allons aller à Barton Springs.

Bette: Mais il y a de gros nuages gris, il va pleuvoir.

Corey: Chouette! Je vais nager sous la pluie.

Corey: Tex! Tammy! We are going to go to Barton Springs.

Bette: But there are big gray clouds. It's going to rain.

Corey: Great! I am going to swim in the rain.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=559#audio-559-5>

aller in the imperfect + infinitive

The construction aller + infinitive is also found with the verb aller in the imperfect (l'imparfait) to indicate what someone was going to do. For example:

Les copains allaient partir pour Barton Springs, quand ils ont vu un éclair.

The friends were going to leave for Barton Springs, when they saw lightening.

Bette: Corey, tu vas te faire électrocuter! Moi, je vais faire du shopping. Qui va venir avec moi?

Bette: Corey, you are going to get yourself electrocuted! I'm going to do some shopping. Who's going to come with me?

The COM are different from the DROM mentioned above.

Les COM ont un statut particulier et une certaine autonomie. Ce sont des entités distinctes de l'État français. Ainsi, les COM sont reconnues avec un pouvoir réglementaire pour l'exercice de leurs pouvoirs administratifs. Une assemblée délibérante fixe les conditions d'application de la loi française. Cela rend la COM plus autonome que la DROM. Certains ont même leur propre drapeau.

Il y a 5 COM. Cliquez sur le nom de chacune pour en savoir plus.

Saviez-vous...? Did you know...?

Like the Regions, the overseas territories were regrouped and renamed in 2003: Une réforme constitutionnelle de 2003, a remplacé le nom des Départements d'Outre-Mer et Territoires d'Outre-Mer (DOM-TOM) par les Départements ou Régions français d'Outre-Mer (DROM) et les Collectivités d'Outre-Mer (COM). In the constitutional reform of 2003, the name "Départements d'Outre-Mer" et "Territoires d'Outre-Mer" (DOM-TOM) was replaced by "Départements ou régions français d'Outre-Mer (DROM) and "les collectivités d'Outre-Mer" (COM).

Verbs in -ER stem changing

Review the conjugations and explanations. Do both exercises

Spelling changes occur in the stems of several groups of -er verbs in the present tense. These spelling changes reflect the pronunciation of the present tense forms.

You may have already noticed the spelling change in the verb s'appeler (Je m'appelle ..., My name is ...). For verbs like appeler (to call), rappeler (to call back) and jeter (to throw), the consonant -l or -t in the stem doubles in all forms of the present tense, except in the first and second person plural (nous and vous). This follows the traditional boot pattern of -er verb conjugations in the present tense.

appeler 'to call'

je appelle	nous appelons
tu appelles	vous appelez
il/elle/iel/on appelle	ils/elles/iels appellent past participle : appelé

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=561#audio-561-2>

This same “boot” pattern is repeated in spelling change verbs like préférer (to prefer). In these verbs the é in the last syllable of the stem changes to an è, except in the first and second person plural (nous and vous). Listen carefully to the different pronunciations of é and è in the conjugations below.

préférer 'to prefer'

je préfère	nous préférons
tu préfères	vous préférez
il/elle/iel/on préfère	ils/elles/iels préfèrent
past participle : préféré

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=561#audio-561-3>

Verbs conjugated like préférer include:

considérer, to consider

espérer, to hope

régler, to regulate, pay, settle, adjust

répéter, to repeat

sécher, to dry, skip (a class)

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=561#audio-561-4>

In verbs which are conjugated like acheter (to buy), the e in the last syllable of the stem also changes to an è, again with the exception of the first and second person plural forms.

acheter 'to buy'

j'achète nous achetons

tu achètes vous achetez

il/elle/iel/on achète ils/elles/iels achètent

past participle : acheté

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=561#audio-561-5>

Verbs conjugated like acheter include:

amener, to bring somebody (along) emmener, to take somebody (along) lever, to lift, raise

mener, to take, lead

peser, to weigh

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=561#audio-561-6>

Another group of stem-changing verbs include those ending in -ayer, including essayer (to try) and payer (to pay). In these verbs the y changes to i in all persons except the first and second person plural (nous and vous).

essayer 'to try'

j' essaie	nous essayons
tu essaies	vous essayez
il/elle/iel/on essaie	ils/elles/iels essaient

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=561#audio-561-7>

Finally, verbs ending in –ger like voyager (to travel) add an e after the g in the nous form of the present tense, so that the g is pronounced as a soft sound before the –ons ending (i.e. nous voyageons). Similarly, in verbs ending in –cer, commencer (to start), for example, the c in the nous form changes to ç to keep the soft c sound (nous commençons).

voyager 'to travel'

je voyage	nous voyageons
tu voyages	vous voyagez
il/elle/iel/on voyage	ils/elles/iels voyagent past participle: voyagé

While on vacation in Morocco, your cell phone died and you can't send or post any photos. You can't afford to buy a new phone so you are going old school! You buy some postcards to send back home.

Part One:

To begin, you will create a first draft of your postcard IN FRENCH to mail to your friend or family member. Be sure to include information about the activities you will be doing during the rest of your vacation, that is in the days to come (future), how you will get to some of the different locations, and the weather.

To elevate your writing, think about adding more details. Consider adding adjectives, numbers, or answering questions like with whom? When? Where? Why? How? How much/many? Try to use connecting words like and, but, with, because.

Part Two:

You will now revise your first draft based on the feedback from your instructor. Using the template below, add your polished second draft to the postcard template below.

You may add an image to the front of the postcard if you are taking this IPA on a computer. If you are taking this assessment on paper you may draw an image on the front of the postcard or leave it blank.

Les articles définis – Definite articles

Illustration via Open Clip Art

The definite article (le, la, l', les) is often used with parts of the body instead of a possessive determiner (mon, ma, mes, etc.). Sentences with this structure always use the verb avoir to indicate that the possessor is the subject of the sentence. The following French sentences are equivalent.

Tex rêve: Ah, Tammy! Tu as les yeux brûlants, la bouche pulpeuse, les cheveux si doux ...

Tex rêve: Ah Tammy! Ton regard est brûlant, ta bouche pulpeuse, tes cheveux si doux ...

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=563#audio-563-1>

However, an indefinite article is used if an adjective comes before the part of the body:

Tex continue: Tammy, tu as un petit nez pointu et de grandes oreilles décollées ...

Tex continues: Tammy, you have a little pointed nose and big ears which stick out ...

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=563#audio-563-2>

The definite article is also always used when pronominal verbs refer to parts of the body.

le portrait physique – avoir – to have

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=563#audio-563-3>

In French, there are two main verbs used to describe someone's physical attributes. You may use "être" – to be – to describe how they are, or use the verb avoir – to have – to describe certain features.

Elle est blonde – using "être". Notice the adjective "blond" agrees with the person's gender here.

or

Elle a les cheveux blonds – using "avoir". The adjective "blond" agrees with the noun it's describing – cheveux (hairs) are plural and masculin.

J'ai – I have

Tu as – you have

Il / elle / iel / on a – he/she/they/one has nous avons – we have vous avez – you (all) have ils / elles / iels ont – they have les pronoms non-binares – Non-binary pronouns

iel = "they" (singular) "Iel aime jouer au foot."

iels = "they" (plural) "Iels aiment danser."

non-binary options: adjectives

The following suggestions for how to describe non-binary people is adapted from Julia Spiegelman's "Student Guide to Non-Binary French":

As mentioned in previous modules, the middot (point médian) can be used in inclusive written French to suggest gender neutrality: for example, les étudiant·e·s can include students of all genders.

- Example: Sam est fatigué·e.

For the adjectives discussed above in BANGS, the following are possible options:

Beau /belle:

- Iel est belleau ou bel.

Joli / jolie:

- Iel est jolix.

Vieux / vieille

- Iel est vieil

Bon / bonne

- Iel est ban

Grand / grande

- Iels est grans ou granx.

Petit / petite

- Iel est petit·e

Punctuated forms using the middot (point médian), dash, or period are often used in inclusive written French to suggest gender neutrality: for example, les étudiant·e·s can include students of all genders. These forms are widely understood.

- Example: Sam est fatigué·e / fatiguée / fatigué·e.

New, alternative endings for gender-neutral forms are suggested in the table below. These are recommended by a Québécois organization for trans inclusion, Fondation Émergence irregular adjective patterns

1. gender
2. number

Regular adjectives are formed by adding an e to the masculine form in the singular (content / contente), or by adding an s to the masculine and feminine forms in the plural (Tex et Edouard sont contents / Tammy et Bette sont contentes). This group of adjectives is by far the most common. There are, however, a number of adjectives which are called irregular, because they do not have the normal -e, -s, or -es endings. The endings of these irregular adjectives vary widely and often change the pronunciation.

gender

Some adjectives are completely irregular:

masculine	feminine	translation
doux	douce	soft
faux	fausse	false
favori	favorite	favorite frais	fraîche	fresh long	longue	long
public	publique	public

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=568#audio-568-2>

Other adjectives can be grouped in categories:

masculine ending	feminine ending	french	english
-el	-elle	cruel • cruelle	cruel
-eil	-eille	pareil • pareille	similar
-il	-ille	gentil • gentille	kind, nice
-on	-onne	mignon • mignonne	cute
-s	-sse	gros • grosse	big, fat
-en	-enne	ancien • ancienne	old
-et	-ète	secret • secrète	secretive
-er	-ère	cher • chère	dear, expensive
-eux	-euse	heureux • heureuse	happy
-eur	-euse	trompeur • trompeuse	deceptive
-teur	-trice	créateur • créatrice	creative
-f	-ve	actif • active	active
-c	-che	franc • franche	frank
-ou	-olle	fou • folle	crazy

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=568#audio-568-3>

Some adjectives have identical masculine and feminine forms. This is generally the case with adjectives ending in e in their masculine form and with foreign adjectives like ‘snob’, ‘cool’, etc. For example: Tex est un tatou imaginaire; Tammy aussi est imaginaire. Ils sont imaginaires. (Tex is an imaginary armadillo; Tammy too is imaginary. They are imaginary.) Here are a few of these adjectives:

pauvre (poor)

riche (rich)

mince (slim)

propre (clean)

difficile (difficult)

calme (calm)

minuscule (tiny)

ironique (ironic)

sensible (sensitive)

semblable (similar) ridicule (ridiculous)

imaginaire (imaginary)

number

The majority of adjectives are regular in the plural; that is, an -s is added to the singular masculine or feminine forms. There are two major exceptions to this rule:

Do not add an s to the masculine form of adjectives ending in s or x. The masculine singular and plural forms are thus identical: un animal heureux (a happy animal), des animaux heureux (happy animals).

1. However, the feminine plural form of these adjectives is regular; it is formed by simply adding an s to the feminine singular form: une fille heureuse (a happy girl), des filles heureuses (happy girls).

Adjectives ending in al in the masculine singular

2. form change to aux in the masculine plural form.

Tex est un tatou international. Edouard et Tex sont des animaux internationaux.

Tex is an international armadillo. Edouard and Tex are international animals.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=568#audio-568-5>

The feminine plural form of these adjectives is regular; it is formed by simply adding an s to the feminine singular form: Tex aime lire la presse internationale. Tex aime aussi les revues internationales. (Tex likes to read international papers. Tex also likes international magazines).

Listen to this dialogue:

Tex: Mais, qu'est-ce qui ne va pas?

Tammy: C'est encore Bette! Elle n'est jamais sincère! Sois franc Tex. Tu ne la trouves pas capricieuse et cruelle?

Tex: Non! Elle est gentille! C'est une bonne amie! Qu'est-ce qu'elle a fait?

Tammy: Comme tu es naïf! Elle me raconte que tu me trouves ennuyeuse, que tu es amoureux d'une de tes étudiantes. C'est vrai?

Tex: Tu es folle! C'est une fausse accusation!

Tammy: Hmm ... Tu veux que je t'explique? C'est très clair. Elle est jalouse! C'est le complot classique. Elle essaie de nous séparer, nous des amis si loyaux!

Tex: But, what's wrong?

Tammy: It's Bette again! She is never sincere! Be frank Tex. Don't you find her capricious and cruel?

Tex: No! She is nice! She is a good friend! What did she do?

Tammy: You are so naive! She tells me that you think I'm boring, that you are in love with one of your students. Is that true?

Tex: You're crazy! It's a false accusation!

Tammy: Hmm ... Do you want me to explain? It's very clear. She is jealous! It's the classic plot. She is trying to separate us, such loyal friends!

plus d'adjectifs – BANGS

The placement of most adjectives in French is after the noun: un escargot parlant, une fourmi travailleuse, des tatous intelligents, etc. There is a small group of adjectives, however, that normally precede the noun. These adjectives may be categorized as adjectives of Beauty, Age, Numbers Goodness, and Size (BANGS).

autre, other

grand (grande), tall, big joli (jolie), pretty petit (petite), little ordinal numbers:

premier (première), first

beau (belle), beautiful

gros (grosse), big, fat

mauvais (mauvaise), bad

vieux (vieille), old

deuxième, second bon (bonne), good jeune, young nouveau (nouvelle), new troisième, third, etc.

Tammy est une belle Américaine. C'est aussi une bonne amie. C'est une petite tatou.

Trey est le jeune frère de Tex. C'est le troisième enfant de la famille.

Tammy is a beautiful American woman. She is also a good friend. Tammy is a little armadillo.

Trey is Tex's young brother. He is the third child in the family.

beau, nouveau, vieux

Beau, nouveau, and vieux have irregular forms. Note the special forms in the masculine singular when they precede a word that begins with a vowel or a silent h.

masculine singular	masculine before vowel	feminine singular	masculine plural	feminine plural
beau	bel	belle	beaux	belles
nouveau	nouvel	nouvelle	nouveaux	nouvelles
vieux	vieil	vieille	vieux	vieilles

The adjectives which precede the noun must agree in number and gender with the noun they modify (see the regular rule for adjective formation). Be aware that changing the position of some adjectives may change their meaning. Listen to this dialogue:

Tex et Tammy regardent le nouvel album de famille de Rita.

Tammy: Qui est cette belle femme?

Rita: C'est notre mère.

Tammy: Et qui sont ces autres personnes?

Rita: Le vieil homme, c'est Paw-Paw Louis. Et puis, à côté, c'est moi.

Tex: Et ce petit bébé, qui est-ce? Comme il est laid!

Rita: C'est toi, Tex. C'est la première photo de toi.

Tex and Tammy are looking at Rita's new family album.

Tammy: Who is that beautiful woman?

Rita: That's our mother.

Tammy: And who are these other people?

Rita: The old man, that's Paw-Paw Louis. And then, next to him, that's me.

Tex: And the little baby, who is it? Boy is he ugly!

Rita: That's you, Tex. It's the first picture of you.

c'est vs. il/elle est

1. c'est/ce sont

2. il/elle est / ils/elles sont

To describe and introduce things or people in French, two common phrases are used: c'est and il/elle/iel est. The plural forms are ce sont and ils/elles/iels sont.

The choice between c'est and il / elle/iel est is not always easy, but there are basic principles which can guide you in the choice. A rule of thumb is that c'est or ce sont are followed by a determined noun ('le tatou', 'une Américaine', 'mes livres'). Remember that nouns in French are preceded by a determiner. Il/elle/iel est and ils/elles/iels sont are followed by an adjective ('content', 'sympathique').

c'est/ce sont

C'est and ce sont are followed by the following:

+ noun, including modified nouns	Tex? C'est un tatou. C'est un Américain. C'est un petit tatou bilingue.	Tex? He's an armadillo. He is an American. He is a small bilingual armadillo.
	Tammy et Tex? Non, ce ne sont pas des chats! Ce sont des tatous.	Tammy and Tex? No they are not cats! They are armadillos.
+ proper noun	C'est Tex.	It's Tex.
	Tammy: Allô Tex? C'est moi.	Tammy: Hello Tex? It's me.
+ disjunctive pronoun	Tex: Qui est-ce? Ah, c'est toi Tammy!	Tex: Who is this? Oh, it's you Tammy!
+ dates	Tex: Mon anniversaire? C'est le quatorze juillet. C'est jeudi prochain!	Tex: My birthday? It's July 14th. It's next Thursday!
+ an infinitive as subject	Tex: Vivre, c'est parler français.	Tex: To live is to speak French!
+ adjective for non-specific referents	Tex: Ah c'est chouette! C'est incroyable!	Tex: Oh, that's neat! That's unbelievable.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=568#audio-568-11>

il/elle/iel est/ils/elles/iels sont

Use il/elle/iel est or ils/elles/iels sont to introduce the following:

+ adjective alone	Tex? Il est arrogant! Il n'est pas français. Il est américain.	Tex? He is arrogant! He isn't French. He is American.
	Tammy? Elle est gentille.	Tammy? She is nice.
	Tex? Il est poète.	Tex? He is a poet.
+ nationality, occupation, religion (used as adjectives in French)	Trey? Il est musicien.	Trey? He is a musician.
	Tammy? Elle est étudiante.	Tammy? She is a student.

One or more interactive elements has been excluded from this version of the text. You can view them online here: <https://boisestate.pressbooks.pub/french101/?p=568#audio-568-12>

Remember that il(s), elle(s), and iel(s) refer to a specific person or thing. Ce does not refer to a specific person or thing; it is usually translated as that.

Il est stupide. (He's stupid.)

C'est stupide. (That's stupid.)

des comparaisons

comparative adjectives indicating more or less

Adjectives are frequently used to compare things, people, events, ideas etc. Plus ... que conveys the idea of 'more ... than', moins ... que the idea of 'less than.'

Tex est plus intelligent que Joe-Bob.

Tex is more intelligent than Joe-Bob.

Mais Joe-Bob est moins prétentieux que Tex.

But Joe-Bob is less pretentious than Tex.

Bien sûr, il est plus difficile d'être poète que d'être écureuil!

Of course, it is more difficult to be a poet than to be a squirrel.

comparative adjectives indicating similarity or equality

Aussi ... que conveys the idea of 'as ... as'.

Fiona est aussi belle que Tammy. Mais elles ne sont pas aussi séduisantes que Bette.

Fiona is as beautiful as Tammy. But they are not as seductive as Bette.

irregular adjectives

The adjectives bon and mauvais have irregular forms of comparison, meilleur and pire. However, the regular form plus mauvais que has become commonly accepted. Note that this irregularity is found in English too with 'better' (not *gooder) and 'worse' (not *badder).

D'après Tex, Tammy est un bon parti. Mais Bette pense qu'elle serait un meilleur parti que Tammy.

According to Tex, Tammy is a good match. But Bette thinks she would be a better match than Tammy.

Mais il est évident que le caractère de Bette est plus mauvais que celui de Tammy.

But it is obvious that Bette's personality is worse than Tammy's.

Listen to this dialogue:

Bette: Tex, as-tu jamais vu une fille aussi jolie que moi?

Tex philosophe: Euh! La beauté physique est moins importante que la beauté de l'âme. Voyons Bette, je n'ai pas le temps de penser à des choses aussi triviales que celles-ci ...

Bette: D'accord, d'accord, mais je suis moins bête et plus sexy que Tammy, non?

Tex: Être ou ne pas être, là est la question ...

Bette: Tex, have you ever seen a girl as pretty as I am?

Tex the philosopher: Ah! Physical beauty is less important than the beauty of the soul. Look Bette, I do not have time to think about things as trivial as that ...

Bette: Ok, ok, but I am less stupid and more sexy than Tammy, don't you think?

Tex: To be or not to be, that is the question ...

Troisième Partie: La routine quotidienne, Explication de grammaire

In this section:

- des verbes pronominaux

des verbes pronominaux / pronomial verbs

A pronominal verb is a verb that is accompanied by a reflexive pronoun. Pronominal verbs fall into three major classes based on their meaning: reflexive, idiomatic, and reciprocal. You have probably already seen the pronominal verb s'appeler (Comment t'appelles-tu? What is your name?). To conjugate pronominal verbs in the present tense, you need to pay attention to both the pronoun and the verb form. Listen carefully to the conjugation of the following pronominal verb. The verb is conjugated normally (here an -er verb) with addition of the reflexive pronouns me, te, se, nous, vous, se.

se raser 'to shave oneself'

je me rase
tu te rases
il/elle/iel/on se rase

nous nous rasons vous vous rasez
ils/elles/iels se rasent

reflexive verbs

Pronominal verbs often express reflexive actions, that is, the subject performs the action on itself. If the subject performs the action on someone else, the verb is not reflexive. Here is a list of common reflexive verbs:

s'asseoir, to sit (down)

s'appeler, to be called s'arrêter, to stop

se brosser, to brush

se coucher, to go to bed

s'habiller, to get dressed

se laver, to wash

se lever, to get up

se promener, to take a walk

se réveiller, to wake up

Compare the difference in meaning between se raser and raser in the following sentences. Note that English does not usually indicate reflexive meaning explicitly since it can be inferred from the context. However, if reflexive meaning is intended in French, then it must be explicitly stated by using a reflexive pronoun.

Est-ce que Tex se rase? Mais non, Tex, c'est un tatou. Il n'a pas de cheveux.

Does Tex shave? Why no, Tex is an armadillo. He has no hair.

Qu'est-ce qu'il fait, Tex, avec le rasoir? Il rase Joe-Bob pour l'été.

What's Tex doing with the razor? He's shaving Joe-Bob for the summer.

To negate pronominal verbs, place the ne before the reflexive pronoun and the pas after the verb. When used with an auxiliary verb such as aimer (to like), the infinitive of a pronominal verb agrees with its subject. When pronominal verbs are used with parts of the body, they take the definite article (le, la, les) rather than the possessive article as in English: Tex se lave les mains. (Tex washes his hands.)

Joe Bob: Edouard, est-ce que tu te rases?

Edouard: Non, je ne me rase pas.

Les escargots ne se rasent pas. Pourtant, nous nous lavons le visage tous les jours.

Joe-Bob: Ah, tu as de la chance. Je déteste me raser.

Joe Bob: Edouard, do you shave?

Edouard: No, I don't shave.

Snails don't shave. However we do wash our faces every day.

idiomatic verbs

Some pronominal verbs are idiomatic and do not represent reflexive actions per se. s'amuser (to have fun) and se reposer (to rest) are examples of pronominal verbs with idiomatic meanings. The following list includes common idiomatic pronominal verbs:

s'amuser, to have fun

se dépêcher, to hurry

s'endormir, to fall asleep

s'ennuyer, to be bored

s'entendre, to get along

se fâcher, to get angry

se marier, to get married

se passer, to happen

se reposer, to rest

se sentir, to feel

se souvenir de, to remember

se taire, to be silent

se tromper, to make a mistake

se trouver, to be (situated) reciprocal verbs

A third category of pronominal verbs expresses a reciprocal action between more than one person, s'aimer or se parler, for example. The English equivalent often uses the phrase 'each other' to represent this reciprocal action. Here is a list of common reciprocal verbs:

s'aimer, to love each other se détester, to hate each other se disputer, to argue s'embrasser, to kiss
se parler, to talk to each other se quitter, to leave each other se regarder, to look at each other se retrouver, to meet each other se téléphoner, to telephone each other

To form the imperative of pronominal verbs, drop the subject pronoun and then attach the reflexive pronoun with a hyphen to the right side of the verb. The reflexive pronoun te becomes toi when used in the imperative. Dépêche-toi! Hurry up!, Souvenons-nous. Let's remember., Amusez-vous! Have fun!

Tammy décrit ses rapports avec Tex.

Tammy: Nous nous entendons très bien, sauf quand il se fâche.

Il me dit, «Assieds-toi et tais-toi, ma petite.»

Mais nous nous aimons même si nous nous disputons un peu.

Nous allons nous marier un jour.

Tammy describes her relationship with Tex.

Tammy: Usually we get along very well except when he gets angry.

He tells me "Sit down and shut up, little one!"

But we love each other even if we fight a little bit.

We're going to get married someday.
